Art Unit: 1724

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Yamanaka et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,951,609). The reference discloses an ion adsorption module of the type recited (see col. 3, lines 65-66; col. 4, lines 26-27; and col. 5, lines 14-15 and 37-53) located downstream of another ion adsorption module (i.e. 22) of the type recited, as required by claims 1-8.

Claims 1-3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being clearly anticipated by JP 2002-306976 or WO 02/083771 A1. Each of the references discloses an ion adsorption module of the type recited (see the abstract of each document).

Applicant cannot rely upon the foreign priority papers to overcome the above rejections, because a translation of said foreign priority papers has not been made of record in accordance with 37 C.F.R. § 1.55. See MPEP § 201.15.

Claims 1-3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0189005 or Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0122117. Each of the references discloses an ion adsorption module of the type recited (see ¶s 0039-0041 of Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0189005; and ¶ 0010 of Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0122117).

Art Unit: 1724

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4, 5, 7 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 2002-306976, WO 02/083771 A1, Patent Application Publication No. 2003/0189005 or Patent Application Publication No. 2004/0122117. Each of the references discloses the claimed invention with the exception of the additional ion exchange resin pre-treatment. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to pre-treat the water in any of the above noted reference systems with a conventional particulate ion exchange resin, in order to ensure that the final product water is adequately purified.
